More and more young people spend most of time playing computer games. How can we help children to overcome this addiction?

Nowadays children spend too much time playing computer games. So later children have no motivation and time to study and to do their homework, because of that kids get bad grades at school. We can make children ~~to~~ play educational games to improve their grades.

Another problem of having an addiction to the computer games is that children lose their social life. Addicted kids forget to go for a walk, to talk to their friends, so later they have no friends. Only strong friendship between addicted kids and their friends can help them.

Finally, the main problem of children that addicted to the computer games is that children spoil their health while playing computer games. They forget to eat and to go to sleep. Later kids have huge problems with their health. For example I have problems with my spine because I have spend a lot of time playing computer and mobile games. I spent a hole summer playing games and now I am suffering from spine pain. I wish I never played computer games. Only understanding what type of problems are waiting in the future can help addicted children.

The danger of addiction to the computer games is growing and only a good talk with kids can help them to improve themselves.
